- Working with botanical and assisting in distillation, extraction and blending process.
- Constant quality control. (Liquid level, label check)
- Possibility to provide an assisting hand during tours and workshops.

You are:

- A desire to be part of an adventurous journey of a young Dutch international botanical rum brand.
- A student looking for a flexible job.
- You want to work with your hands.
- Too much energy and motivated to work hard.
- Perfectionist – every product has to look extraordinary
- No experience necessary but interested in the distillation and production process of alcoholic spirits.

What we offer:

- A chance to be part of something new and exciting, help building a company & brand from the ground up.
- A central Amsterdam extraordinary working location.
- Working with a young, passionate and smart crew of people.
- Real responsibility – You are working with products that will be seen from your local Gall&Gall to stores literally on the other side of the world. (New Zealand).
- Flexible hours from 8 hours per week
- Hourly rate - €10,.
- Unlimited high fives and plenty of rum.(after work)

ABOUT SPIRITED UNION DISTILLERY

The story behind each of our spirits starts with the colourful world of herbs and spices and how they can create vibrant tastes. Making a delicious drink is a bit like cooking a delicious meal; you need to combine textures and tastes to create a memorable experience. So, we start with the flavour kick we're trying to create then replicate it by exploring the vast world of botanicals and infusions. Each ingredient needs to be infused or distilled for the right length of time. Delicate aromatic flowers, leaves and seeds need less infusion time. Harder fruits, roots and barks need longer. (It's one of the reasons why each batch carries its own unique number)

To rejuvenate the rum category, we've opened the doors to our very own distillery located in Amsterdam. Its eco-friendly and all our spirits are made with real ingredients. Better tastings and Better for the world.
